THE STEM OF THE CRIMSON DAHLIA

By James Locke

¶ This is our first novel of the new year, and we want you to READ IT for yourself. Then you will feel AS SURE AS WE ARE that it has BIG SALE POSSIBILITIES.

¶ This is one of the FEW NOVELS of THE EXCITING MODERN KIND that combine A STIRRING PLOT with the SUBSTANTIAL QUALITIES of atmosphere and character which make for SOLID REPUTATION.

¶ The scene is the Balkans and the time the present.

¶ Hero and heroine are both Americans who have become entangled in the web of EASTERN INTRIGUE, dragging with them, through a chain of curious circumstance, a young British diplomat who constitutes a character destined to celebrity.

¶ The action is THE SWIFTEST and MOST EXCITING IMAGINABLE, and the panorama of Balkan life, diplomatic and political, is of the MOST FASCINATING kind.

ELLEN GLASGOW'S

New Novel

The Ancient Law

THIS impressive story not only tells most dramatically the triumphant fight of Daniel Ordway with his own past, but it leaves the reader with a profound conviction that the struggle—in spite of its bitterness, its disappointments—was worth while. Miss Glasgow makes one smile in delight at her inimitable Virginia small town characters; she tells a love episode of rare charm; but above all her book inspires one with fresh confidence in the possibilities of human nature. It is this which made one of the most famous English publishers say, "She writes like George Eliot."

NOTES IN SEASON.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will publish next month a novel entitled "Marcia Schuyler," by Grace Livingston Hill-Lutz, a well-known writer for religious papers and a niece of Mrs. G. R. Alden, whose pseudonym, "Pansy," has been a household word for years. The story, which has a unique plot, is set in the time of 1830, much of the action centering about the introduction of the steam railway in the State of New York. The book will have a frontispiece in color by Anna Whelan Betts, and six half-tone illustrations, full of historic interest, from paintings by Edward L. Henry, of New York.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. have added to their line of popular copyright fiction, in cloth bindings, with designs in gold and colored inks, "Mystery of Mortimore Strange" and "Sir Jaffrey's Wife," by A. W. Marchmont; "My Quaker Maid" and "Told in the Hills," by Marah Ellis Ryan; "A Country Sweetheart," by Dora Russell, bound in dark green cloth, stamped in light green ink, with a handsome picture in colors inlaid, making a suitable gift for St. Valentine's day; "The Bishop Secret," by Fergus Hume; also, "The Mills of Man," by Phillip Payne. This line now includes thirty-five titles, all by popular authors.

THE McCLURE COMPANY will bring out next week "The Flying Death," by Samuel Hopkins Adams, which, for absolute excitement and weirdness of plot, will equal anything in recent fiction. The scene of the story is laid in a little fishing village on Long Island, and the action includes a shipwreck and several mysterious murders all worked up to awake breathless interest. Two other novels to be ready next week are "The Magistrate's Own Case," by Baron Paley von Rosencranz, a Danish nobleman, a story of crime and mystery whose complication of motive, ingenuity of plot and freedom from cheap sensationalism will commend it to the reader of the better sort of fiction; also, "Virginie," by Ernest Oldmeadow, author of "Susan," already fully described by us.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation "The Socialists at Work," by Robert Hunter, author of a work on "Poverty," which will give picturesque descriptions of the men engaged in the growing labor and socialist movements, the congresses, the organizations and the propaganda which go to make up this extraordinary movement; "Social Psychology," by Professor Edward A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin, a pioneer work which, while intended for use as a text book, will also be adapted to the use of the general reader who is interested in sociology; "The Science of Jurisprudence," by Dr. Hannis Taylor, formerly Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to Spain, who in considering that nine-tenths of the civilized world is governed by Roman and English law, singly or in combination, has tried in this work so to unfold a systematic comparative study of these two world systems as to reveal the fact that the ultimate outcome of the one is a dominating code of private law, the ultimate outcome of the other a dominating code of public law; and that out of the fusion of the two is now arising the typical state law of the future; also, "The Philosophy of Loyalty," by Professor Josiah Royce, of Harvard, whose book is made up from the substance of his lectures before the Lowell Institute last autumn, in which he offers a somewhat new definition of the term loyalty, and then endeavors to centralize the whole duty of man about the higher type of loyalty which he thus defines.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); O. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tl. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Aked, C: Frederic, D.D., comp. One hundred responsive readings from the Scriptures. N. Y. and Chic., Fleming H. Revell Co., 1907, [1908.] c. 197 p. 12°, cl., *75 c. net.

American (The) annual of photography, 1908. v. 22; ed. by J: A. Tennant. N. Y., [for sale by George Murphy, Inc.,] 1907, [1908.] c. 336+17+56 p. il. O. cl., Library ed., $1.25; pap., 75 c.

This issue is wholly the work of photographers here and overseas. Its information comes from their experiences; its illustrations show their activities and interests. A great deal of the miscellany that bulked the earlier volumes has been crowded out.

Anson, Sir W: Reynall. The law and custom of the constitution. 3d ed. In 3 v. v. 2, pt. 1. [N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,)] 1907, [1908.] 32+283 p. O. cl., $3.40.

The first edition of this work was published in two volumes: V. 1, Parliament, in 1886; v. 2, The crown, in 1892. V. 2 appears first in this third edition and it is as yet undecided when v. 1 will be ready. The Warden of All Souls, Oxford University, in this edition throws fresh light on the beginnings of Cabinet Government at the close of the 17th and the beginning of the 18th centuries.

Audit Company of New York, comp. Trust companies of the United States, 1907 ed.: a compilation of the statements of condition of trust companies of the United States as of June 29th, 1907, also of officers, directors, correspondents, dividend rates and stock quotations. Editor is second master, King Edward VII. School, Sheffield, England. This "Journal" is the diary of the first voyage to the pole undertaken by the author, who, in August 18, 1853, lost his life on one of his hazardous expeditions.

Bindloss, Harold. For Jacinta. N. Y., Frederick A. Stokes Co., [1908.] c. '07. 5+332 p. front. D. cl., *$1.50.

Author of "Winston of the prairie" and other stories of our West has chosen the Canary Islands and West Africa for the scenes of this tale of adventure. Two men, one a plucky, forceful American, the other an artistic, ease-loving Englishman, each for the love of a woman attempts to raise a steamer sunk in a West African river containing a valuable but elusive cargo. A Spanish bullfight is also worked into the story.

Binns, H. B. A life of Abraham Lincoln; with numerous portraits and other illustrations. N. Y., Dutton, 1908. cr. 8°, cl., *$1.50 net.

Blake, Ja. Vila. The months: a book of those handsome kin, for love of them all and of life, and of the earth. Bost., James H. West Co., 1907, [1908.] c. 3-207 p. S. cl., *75 c. net.

The present almanac has been subjected to modifications which it is hoped will be recognized as improvements. The index to the text and that to the advertisements have been brought, with the list of postal and telegraphic addresses, and of telephone numbers, to almost the end of the volume. The section hitherto devoted to "Contributed articles" has been abandoned. The "Epitome of progress" is continued and other sections carefully revised as regards both matter and form.

Bullen, Frank T. The call of the deep. N. Y., Dutton, 1908. 12°, cl., $1.50.

By the author of "Tower and throne" and "The queen's hostage." The scene of the novel is laid on the dunes of Long Island in and around the summer homes of a colony of artists. The heroine Janet, the adopted daughter of "Captain Billy" of the Life Saving Service, is a charmingly natural and beautiful girl who has lived all her life among the fisher folks, Life Saving Service men, and lighthouse keepers.

Copley prints: reproductions of notable paintings publicly and privately owned in America; also of the mural decorations in the new Library of Congress, the Boston Public Library and other public buildings. Bost., Curtis & Cameron, 1907, [1908.] c. 136 p. 12°, pap., ea., 25 c.

Copping, Arthur E. Gotty and the gov'ner: a true narrative of Gotty's doings ashore and afloat; with an account of his voyage of discovery on a shrimping bawley in the English channel; [fiction;] with 24 il. by Will Owen. N. Y., Mitchell Kennerley, 1908. 352 p. 8°, cl., $1.50.

Curzon, G. Nathaniel, [1st Baron Curzon of Kedleston, formerly Viceroy and Governor-General of India.] Frontiers; the Romanes lecture, 1907; delivered in the Sheldonian Theatre, Oxford, November 2, 1907. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,) 1907, [1908.] 58 p. O. pap., 50 c.

Lord Curzon was allowed to choose his subject as Romanes lecturer from the entire field of science, literature and art. He chose "Frontiers" as a subject on which there is but little authentic literature, though frontiers play so great a part in the everyday history and policy of the British Empire. Lord Curzon dwells upon the time when England had no frontier but the ocean and describes her present frontier, the greatest extent of territorial frontier of any dominion on the globe.

Davis, G. Thompson Brown. Twice around the world with Alexander, prince of gospel singers. N. Y., Christian Herald, [1908.] c. '07. 15+18-382 p. pors. pls. 12°, cl., $1.

Dean, Sara. Travers: a story of the San Francisco earthquake; with il. in color by W. Herbert Dunton. N. Y., Frederick A. Stokes Co., [1908.] c. '07. 10+287 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Against the background of San Francisco's week of horror Miss Dean, who herself passed through the awful experience, has projected two chief characters—a young and wealthy California girl and an Englishman, formerly of the Indian Medical Service, now an outcast and fugitive suffering the penalty of another's wrongdoing. On the night of the earthquake he becomes a thief, and ensuing events serve to show how a thief may yet become a hero. The author's purpose is to show that not only the work of men's hands but their conventional characters were overturned by the catastrophe.

De la Pasture, Mrs. Elizabeth Bonham. [Mrs. H: De la Pasture.] The unlucky family; with 28 il. by E. T. Reed. N. Y., Dutton, 1908. cr. 8°, cl., $1.50.

 Writer is author of "A history of the Indian mutiny," "Caesar's conquest of Gaul," etc. Tells the story of man's life in Great Britain in detail from earliest times to the Roman invasion of 43 A.D. For nearly thirty years the author has spent his entire vacation on this exhaustive work. Though so many books already deal with Ancient Britain the author claims that no other so completely covers the period. Much space is given to the place of Caesar's landing and other topographical data.

 The initial volume of the section of "The Shakespeare library" known as "Shakespeare's England," which will embrace a series of volumes illustrative of the life, thought and literature of England in the time of Shakespeare. This work, of which so much use was made in Scott's "Kenilworth," is, even apart from the interest of its main subject, of the greatest value on account of the list which it contains of the library of a certain Captain Cox, a worthy mason, who had "great oversight in matters of story"—a list which affords an excellent view of the popular literature of the day. All the works mentioned are fully described in Dr. Furnivall's introduction.

 Written by the rector of Nunburnholme, a parish of Yorkshire, England. Much attention is given to the geography and field nomenclature of the parish, but the author has been obliged to deal inadequately with the natural history of the district. He gives special attention also to folk-lore, having already treated of the subject thoroughly in his "Yorkshire folk-talk." Appendix A gives descent of the Manor of Nunburnholme; appendix 2 contains extracts taken from the Chartulary of the Pryor and Convent of Werter, now in the Bodleian Library. Map of four parishes and list of prioresses of Nunburnholme from 1282 to 1534.

Petrarch was born in 1304. Three years ago Italy summoned the scholars of the world to assist in the solemn celebration of the sixth anniversary of his birth. This book is to throw light on one aspect of his historic rôle. It is divided into three parts: Petrarch as instructor of the Renaissance; Petrarch's library; Petrarch and his masters: Virgil, Cicero. Each book in the Humanist library is assigned to a scholar, who supplies an introduction and is responsible for the accuracy of the text. De Nolhac is a French scholar of renown.
- Norton, Eliot. On "short sales" of securities through a stock broker. N. Y., John McBride Co., 1907, [1908.] c. 5-72 p. D. cl., *$1 net.
Author is a member of the New York Bar. The reason for this essay lies in the fact that while selling securities through a stock broker short is being constantly done, the actual way it is done is not generally known and no satisfactory description of it exists. Besides, it is the most complicated of all common commercial transactions, and it is therefore interesting to see what legal rights and duties it gives rise to.
- Olmstead, Rev. W.; Backus. Handbook for Sunday-school workers; introd. by Rev. J. T. Logan. 2d ed., rev. Chic., William B. Rose, [1908.] c. '07. 206 p. pl. tabs., maps, D. cl., 50 c.

(Sold in sets only.)

"Love's labor lost" is the first issue of the section of the new "Shakespeare library" to be known as "The old spelling Shakespeare." It is edited (as the succeeding volumes will be) according to the orthography and arrangement of the more authentic Quarto and Folio versions, with brief introductions, by F. J. Furnivall, founder of the New Shakspeare Society.

Sheldon, Ruth Louise. Social silhouettes. Akron, O., Selden W. Anderson, [1908.] c. '07. 3+9-74 p. il. D. pap., 50 c.

Standard (The) handbook for electrical engineers; written and comp. by a staff of specialists. N. Y., McGraw Publishing Co., 1908. c. '07. 20+1283 p. diagrs., tabs., S. mor., *$4 net.

In preparing this handbook the publishers adapted the "unit" system to bookmaking. The entire field of electrical engineering was divided into twenty sections or units, each complete in itself. These twenty sections were arranged in what seemed to be a logical order and each was assigned to a specialist. Each author was supplied with a detailed outline of all the sections, thus avoiding repetitions and duplications of material as far as possible. All the material thus brought together was carefully edited to obtain uniformity of style, symbols, abbreviations, units, etc., and to connect the various parts by cross-references.

Stebbing, W. The poets: Geoffrey Chaucer to Alfred Tennyson, 1340-1892; impressions. In 2 v. v. 1, Chaucer-Burns; v. 2, Wordsworth-Tennyson. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,) 1907, [1908.] 4+412; 6+410 p. D. cl., $3.20.

Author is Fellow of Worcester College, Oxford, and already known through "Sir Walter Raleigh: a biography." He has chosen seventy-one poets, all of whom have true inspiration. Emerson, Poe, Longfellow and Lowell take their place among the English poets. After each "impression" follows the list of works of the poet from which illustrations for the criticism have been quoted. Each volume has an index of the poets it contains, with dates of birth and death, and an alphabetized index to first words of quotations. The tone throughout is enthusiastic. Poets who cannot be praised are simply passed by and do not come into this Hall of Fame.

Tweedy, E. Hastings, M.D., and Wrench, G. T., M.D. Rotunda practical midwifery. [N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,)] 1908. 19+464 p. il. tabs., diagrs., O. (Oxford medical pubs.) cl., $6.

Dr. Tweedy is master of the Rotunda Hospital, Dublin, and Dr. Wrench was late assistant master. The former feels that the requirements of practical midwifery are most inadequately provided for in the curriculum of the universities and licensing corporations, and has therefore written this wholly practical book, describing all that may happen in cases of midwifery and giving brief simple directions made clear by many photographs of actual cases. References and authorities are omitted and only one method of dealing with a case is given that the reader may not become perplexed by too many suggestions. Appendix gives statistics of obstetrics.

Vigny, Alfred Victor, Comte de. Servitude et grandeur militaires; ed. by C. L. Freeman. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,) 1907, [1908.] 16+210 p. D. (Oxford modern French ser.; ed. by Leon Delbos.) cl., 60 c.

Editor is modern language master in Magdalen College School, Oxford. De Vigny wrote this book in 1835 and it is considered his best work in prose. It consists of short stories embodying philosophical meditations on the relations of the army to the state.

Wood, H: A. Wise. Money hunger: a brief study of commercial immorality in the United States. N. Y., Putnam, 1908. c. '07. 144 p. D. bds., **$1 net.

Book works through an analysis of the low present state of our commercial morality into an optimistic prophecy of better things to come. It contends that Americans of finer grain will increasingly refuse to set up wealth and the power it brings as satisfying ends in themselves; and will tend to make things more desirable than these their quest. Makes a plea and gives advice for higher ideals.

York, Francis L. A text-book in simple strict counterpoint: counterpoint simplified. Bost., Oliver Ditson Co., [1908.] c. '07. 8+149 p. O. (Music students lib.) cl., $1.25.

Intended for the average student of music who feels that he ought to know in a practical way what is meant by counterpoint. The author does not claim to have discovered any new principles in counterpoint. All he hopes to have done is to have put the old well-known principles of strict counterpoint in as convenient and as concise a form as possible.

JANUARY 18, 1908.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE AMERICAN BOOK AUCTION SEASON, 1906-1907.

THE book auction season of 1906-1907 unlike the English season was not notable either for the character and number of its sales, or, with rare exceptions, for especially rare items. According to Mr. L. S. Livingston, in the thirteenth volume of his excellent compilation, "American Book Prices Current," published by Dodd, Mead & Co., very few of the libraries disposed of during the past season included many of the higher class of collectors' books. The best collection of this character that came up in the auction room was that formed by Louis M. Dillman, of Chicago, sold at Anderson's in March last. Mr. Dillman had made a specialty of the first editions of the works of nineteenth century English authors, though he had also acquired a few rare items of earlier date, and many limited editions and special books in other departments of literature, most of which were in excellent condition. His copy of Browning's first book, "Pauline," published in 1833, appeared for the fourth time in twelve years in an American auction room. It came up the first time in the George T. Maxwell sale, at Libbie's, in 1895, and brought $260, being later acquired by A. J. Morgan. The second time it came up at Bangs's, in 1892, when William Appleton secured it for $720. At the sale of the Appleton collection in 1903 it brought $1025. At the Dillingham sale competition was lacking and it went for $810.

Dillman's copy of Keats's "Poems," (1817,) which the poet gave to the Misses Reynolds, brought $900. Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," in the original boards, uncut, though the two volumes were not quite uniform, brought $800. Shelley's "Queen Mab," (1813,) a very fine copy with original boards, uncut, went for $650.

The largest sum paid for a single printed book was $2900 for the copy in Dr. H. S. Fuller's collection, of a small and thin octavo, —Samuel de Champlain's "Des Sauvages, ou Voyage de Samvel Champlain, de Brovage, fait en la France nouvelle, l'an mil six cens trois," licensed in 1603 and published in Paris late that year or early in 1604. This copy was "picked up" on one of the quay book-stalls in Paris, a little over a year ago, for twenty centimes, (four cents.) Several headlines were cut into, but otherwise the pamphlet was in fair condition, and was rebound by Zaehnsdorf.

Among the more notable sales were the third, fourth and fifth parts of the library of Wilberforce Eames, the libraries of Elliot Coues, the ornithologist; Albert E. Jack, containing first editions of Tennyson, that brought fair but not remarkable prices; the important autograph collection of John D. Crimmins, at which many documents brought high prices; the collection of Dr. Ottocar E. Kopetschny, which was sold in nine parts; the Napoleon collection of A. D. S. Bell; two portions of the Pennypacker library, which contained the best Americana offered during the year, and a number of other more or less important collections. The highest price of the year was realized at the sale of autograph letters and historical documents by Stan. V. Henkels in February, when $4300 was paid for two interleaved pocket almanacs, containing diaries kept by George Washington.

Records are given by Mr. Livingston of 12,700 lots of books and autographs selling at $3 and over—nearly 2000 less than in the season for 1905-1906, but more than in any previous issue. The small number of books from private or semi-private presses is noticeable. Less than twenty-five items from the Kelmscott Press are included, while the 1901 volume recorded over two hundred. There are only fourteen from the Essex House Press, while the 1902 volume included fifty-two. Though the rarest books in this country as well as in England are increasing in price, inferior copies of commoner books are not so eagerly sought for as formerly. Such books must now be in exceptional condition to command anything like the prices for which less perfect copies were sold five or six years ago. As a whole, however, good books are holding their own, the average price per volume during the last year having gone beyond the ten dollar mark.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY RE-ORGANIZATION.

It is announced from Indianapolis that a re-organization has been effected in connection with the Bobbs-Merrill Company which will bring $150,000 new capital into the business and provide for its continuance under the same management. The amount involved in the settlement is, approximately, three-quarters of a million dollars, and most of the merchandise creditors have acceded to the proposition for settlement of 25 per cent. in cash within thirty days and 25 per cent. in one, two and three-year notes, with interest. It is understood that the banks of Indianapolis, which are involved to the extent of about a quarter of a million, have also made arrangements which will insure their continuous support of the concern. The tangible assets, exclusive of plates, are understood to be approximately $650,000, leaving a deficit of $125,000 to be offset by plates, copyright and other intangible assets estimated as high as $300,000, and by the new working capital. The business has not been interrupted during the negotiations for the extension, and will be continued much on the same lines as before, with the possible exception of the periodicals.

The firm made large investments in establishing The Reader and the Home Magazine and bringing them to the turning point, and to these investments the present situation is largely attributed. The Reader, as announced in full elsewhere, will be combined with Putnam's Monthly under an arrangement favorable to both interests. It is understood that the business of the firm, especially in law books and miscellaneous books, has shown a profit approximating on the average $45,000 a year for the past nine years.

A great deal of sympathy and interest is expressed in Indianapolis and throughout Indiana in support of a house which has so notably represented the State in the publishing world.

LEA & FEBIGER SUCCEED LEA BROTHERS & CO.

THE firm of publishers established in 1785 by Matthew Carey, which has been known since January 1, 1885, as Lea Brothers & Co., (who, in turn, succeeded Henry C. Lea,) changed that style on January 1 to Lea & Febiger. The firm of Lea Brothers & Co. consisted of Charles M. Lea, Arthur H. Lea and Christian C. Febiger. Charles M. Lea having for some time been in indifferent health, desired to relieve himself of at least some of the responsibilities of an active business life, and becomes a special partner. By this means the firm will retain the benefit of his long experience, keen insight and admirable administrative faculties.

Christian C. Febiger, whose name now appears in the firm title, entered the service of his kinsman, Henry C. Lea, in 1865, becoming a partner in 1885. In addition to his long and intimate knowledge of the publishing business Mr. Febiger is well known in financial circles in Philadelphia, in which his conservative judgment and breadth of view are highly valued. He is a director of the Bank of North America, the oldest bank in the United States; of the Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington Railroad, of the Philadelphia Warehouse Company, The William Sellers & Co., The Edge Moor Iron Co., and is vice-president of the Southwark Foundry and Machine Co.

Arthur H. Lea is the youngest son of Henry C. Lea. He graduated from Harvard and at once entered his father's firm. He has been closely identified with the various reform movements through which the citizens of Philadelphia have endeavored to purify their local politics. His interests are not confined, however, to civic affairs, as he is active in matters of a philanthropic character, both public and private.

BASKERVILLE'S TYPES AT THE CLARENDON PRESS.

BASKERVILLE, the English representative of that renaissance of printing which in a measure helps to distinguish the second half of the eighteenth century, is the subject of an interesting memoir recently published by Chatto & Windus, of London. It appears that in July, 1758, the Delegates of the Clarendon Press empowered Sir William Blackstone "to agree with Mr. Baskerville, of Birmingham, to make a new set of Greek puncheons, matrices and moulds, in Great Primer, for the use of the University, and also to cast therein 300 weight of Types, at the Price of 200 Guineas for the whole." Baskerville delivered the types in March, 1761, and was paid. He had no further connection with Oxford, and it is incorrect, we read, to suppose that Baskerville printed the two editions of the Greek Testament which appeared at Oxford in 1763. Some of the Greek types, etc., according to The Periodical, are still preserved at the Clarendon Press, and are, so far as is known, the only relics in England of Baskerville's letter-foundry. Mr. Horace Hart reports that there still remains in use at the University Press a brevier which has the name of Baskerville, so that it is possible the Delegates also had a brevier fount from Birmingham.

FICTION IN ITALY.

"LE LIVRE EN ITALIE," a lecture given by Piero Barbera before the Maison du Livre at Brussels, has been printed as No. 9 of the publications of the Musée du Livre. It gives a rapid review of the history of printing in Italy, and general consideration, (with few statistics,) to the present condition of printing and publishing in that country. One of Signor Barbèra's remarks might well apply to other countries than his own: "If all Italians who know how to read in some fashion were to do nothing from morning to night but read novels, and if the importation into the kingdom of foreign novels were entirely forbidden, all those that appear from day to day in the land of the orange-tree could not find readers, and most of them would grow mouldy under the dust in the publishers' warehouses, as indeed they do to-day."

THE CASE OF W. T. HUNT, JR.

THE case of W. T. Hunt, Jr., as stated by W. T. Hunt & Co., general subscription agents, at 150 Nassau Street, New York City, may be of interest to the trade. It appears that a New York publishing firm during April, 1907, filled two orders for W. T. Hunt & Son, 150 Nassau Street, written on the stationery of W. T. Hunt & Son, and signed W. T. Hunt, Jr. When the firm applied for payment they were informed that the son had no authority to purchase, although his name appeared on the letter-head as one of the partners. Persisting in their efforts to collect the account, they finally received the circular which we print below:

W. T. HUNT & CO., REGISTERED

GENERAL SUBSCRIPTION AGENCY

Room 1233, 150 Nassau Street

NEW YORK, Dec. 26th, 1907.

To All Whom This Concerns:

I wish to emphasize the fact that W. T. Hunt, Jr. (Walter Tomson Hunt), of 324 Schermerhorn St., Brooklyn, who did business said to represent W. T. Hunt & Son, the name of a concern which was dissolved September 10, 1907, was never in any way officially interested in this concern; it was writer's personal property. Writer informed you personally and by letter that W. T. Hunt, Jr., was doing business on his own account. Whatever business or orders he secured was his personal property. This point I personally explained to all my customers, and engineers, architects and draftsmen. I permitted him to use my stationery and all checks were made to W. T. Hunt & Son, as I had the bank account and cashed all checks for him; he personally bought and supplied all goods to his customers. To make the fact more emphatic that W. T. Hunt, Jr., had no interest in writer's personal business, I discarded the name of W. T. Hunt & Son, September 10, 1907, and adopted the name of W. T. Hunt & Co., and registered it under the new law of N. Y. State at the N. Y. Court House.

I warn all my clients and customers and others that writer has no one representing him officially and any business transacted in the name of W. T. Hunt & Son is illegal. Any one giving business or orders to any one claiming to represent writer without an order, signed by writer, will not be recognized by

W. T. HUNT & Co.,
Per W. T. Hunt, Sr.

BOOKS BY MICRO-PHOTOGRAPHY.

A NEW idea of making books is explained in the Bulletin de l'Institut International de Bibliographie, (v. 3, No. 1,) by R. Goldschmidt and Paul Otlet. Their plan consists of substituting for the large pages of the average books micro-photographic reproductions of them to be read through a magnifying lens. It is proposed that the size of the plates representing pages should be internationally standardized, so that any one possessing the magnifying apparatus would be able to read any book produced in this way. No technical difficulties are said to be in the way. It is claimed that the cost of production would be enormously reduced, thus a volume 336 pages now costing 5 francs could be produced for 0.8 franc. Also it would greatly reduce the work of libraries now cumbered by books of every shape and size. The plates would be, moreover, of a fireproof and durable material, while the system admits of an edition being enlarged to any dimension desired in accordance with demand.

THE STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE
ELECTS OFFICERS.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Stationers' Board of Trade, held at the rooms of the Board on January 14, the new Board of Trustees organized and elected the following officers, committees, etc.: Henry C. Bainbridge, president; James C. Aikin, first vice-president; Charles S. Kiggins, second vice-president, and Herbert M. Condit, secretary-treasurer.

The following were elected the Executive Committee for the ensuing year: James C. Aikin, chairman; Frederick P. Seymour, Eberhard Faber, Lyman B. Sturgis, Samuel E. Vernon and the president and secretary-treasurer ex-officio.

The following were elected Arbitration Committee for the ensuing year: Charles S. Kiggins, chairman; Stephen Farrelly, Franklin Weston, David A. Tower, William B. Boorum, Jr., Carl M. Bernegau, and the president ex-officio.

LITIGATION OVER THE LONDON TIMES.

ACCORDING to the London Observer, serious litigation is threatened in connection with the sale and control of the London Times, to which many of those having financial interests in the paper are strongly opposed.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

THE KITTREDGE BILL IN THE HOUSE.

REPRESENTATIVE Andrew J. Barchfeld, of Pennsylvania, on January 8 introduced in the House a copyright bill which is identical in every way with the Senator Kittredge bill, including the now famous paragraph "E," which seeks to protect the author and composer against the unauthorized reproduction of their compositions on phonographic records, gramophone discs and perforated music rolls without remuneration.

AUTHORS' AND COMPOSERS' COPYRIGHT LEAGUE ENDORSES THE KITTREDGE BILL.

The Kittredge bill, according to the Washington Star, "has the support of the Authors' and Composers' Copyright League of America, of which the officers are Victor Herbert, president, John Philip Sousa, treasurer, and Reginald DeKoven, secretary. The League is affiliated with all the well-known theatrical clubs of America, among them being the Words and Music Club, the Greenroom Club, The Treasurers' Club of America, the Actors' Society, the White Rats, the Lambs, the American Dramatists' Club, the Playwrights' League and last, but not least, that great body of theatrical press agents and newspaper men, the Friars."

Special delegations have been appointed from all over the country to visit the Capitol in behalf of this bill. Victor Herbert, Isidore Witmark, Nathan Burkan, Campbell B. Casad, John Philip Sousa, Reginald DeKoven, and others are now in Washington to look after it.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JOHN C. NIMMO, once a well-known English publisher, died January 4 in London. Mr. Nimmo attained a position as the publisher of high-class works of permanent value, produced with remarkable care and finish. His "Border Waverley," edited by Andrew Lang and finished with fine etchings, was probably his most notable success.

JAMES RYDER RANDALL, a well-known Southern journalist and author of the famous war song, "Maryland, My Maryland," died at Augusta, Ga., on January 14. Mr. Randall was born on January 1, 1839, in Baltimore, Md., and devoted most of his life to journalism in the South. Since 1905 he had been editor of the New Orleans (La.) Morning Star.

WILHELM BUSCH, the humorist and artist, died January 9 at Mechtshausen a. Harz, Prussia. Busch, who is known the world over as the creator of Max und Moritz, Hans Hucklebein, the unfortunate raven, etc., was born April 15, 1832, at Wiedensahl in Hannover. It was intended that he should become an engineer. Encouraged by Lehnbach he studied art at Düsseldorf, Antwerp and Munich. In 1859 he joined the staff of the Fliegende Blätter, for which he did some of his best work.

WILLIAM LIVINGSTON ALDEN, a well-known journalist and author, died on January 14, at Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Alden, a descendant of John and Priscilla Alden, was born October 9, 1837, at Williamstown, Mass., and was graduated from Jefferson College in 1858. He was admitted to the bar in 1860 and practiced law until 1865, when he became a leader writer on the New York World, Times, for which he wrote the famous humorous "sixth column," and for the Graphic. In 1885 he was appointed United States Consul to Rome, which office he held until 1889. For three years after that he was leader writer for the Paris edition of the New York Herald, when he retired to London to devote himself to literary work. Among his better-known books are "Canoe and Flying Proa," "Domestic Explosives," "Shooting Stars," "Life of Columbus," "Adventures of Jimmy Brown," "Loss of the Swansea," "The Moral Pirates," "Cruise of the Ghost," "Trying to Find Europe," "A Lost Soul," "Told by the Colonel," "His Daughter," and "Drewitt's Dream."

HOLGER HENRIK HERHOLDT DRACHMANN, the Danish poet, died on January 13 at Hornbæk, Denmark. Drachmann was born October 9, 1846, in Copenhagen, and began his professional career as a painter of marines. As early as 1872 he began to write verses which were favorably received by the critics and public. To this early period belong "Poems," (1872,) "Muffled Melodies," (1875,) "Young Blood," (1876,) "Sons of the Sea," (1877,) and "Over the Frontier There," (1877.) The two last-named books established Drachmann's reputation as a writer so firmly that he devoted himself thereafter to literature. Among his numerous other books the best known are: "East of the Sun and Moon," (1880,) "Strandby Folk," (1883,) "Once Upon a Time," (1885,) "Brav-Karl," (1897,) "Gurre," (1899,) "Hallfred Vandraadeskjald," (1900,) and "The Green Hope," (1901.) As a prose writer, Drachmann always remained a realist, save as he introduced his characteristically romantic verses into the current of his tales. His autobiographical novel, "Das Heilige Feuer," (1899,) contains many lyrical and fantastical improvisations.

ABRAHAM GOLDFADEN, the "Yiddish Shakespeare" and bard of the Jewish stage, died on the 8th inst., at his home, 318 East Eleventh Street, New York City. Mr. Goldfaden was born in Old Constantine, Russia, in 1840. He was graduated from the University of Odessa. When twenty-four years old he published his first poem, "Progress," which was considered a plea for Zionism years before that movement developed. Without musical education he wrote his own songs, set them to music, and often sang them himself. His first play, a comedy, "Schmendrik," was produced during the Russo-Turkish war. A hundred or more plays followed during his lifetime. The best known of his stage works is the operetta "Sulamith," which was sold to the managers of the Royal Theatre in Budapest for a trifle, and which earned for its purchaser many times his outlay. In 1893 Goldfaden came to this country to establish Goldfaden's Weekly, a humorous Yiddish magazine. Two years later he went to Paris, where he remained until 1903, Baron Rothschild giving him a small pension and Hebrew managers also aiding him. His funeral was attended by 75,000 persons.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE new novel of Katherine Cecil Thurston will begin in the February number of The Bookman. The title of the new story is "The Fly on the Wheel."

It was announced on December 15 that Alfred Stead, son of W. T. Stead, editor of the Review of Reviews, was dead. This was an error which has caused the family considerable inconvenience. Alfred Stead is alive, and is filling the position of consul-general for Roumania in London. His brother William died suddenly last month, and the mistake arose through confusing the names of the two brothers.

At the request of the late Dr. Watson's family, Dr. W. Robertson Nicoll is preparing a memoir of the famous author of "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Dr. Nicoll is very desirous of obtaining the use of any letters that may be in the possession of American friends of Dr. Watson, and asks that such letters be sent to Dr. Watson's publishers, Dodd, Mead & Company, New York. Letters thus loaned will not be sent to England, but will be immediately copied and carefully returned to owners who shall kindly loan them.

CHARLES WELSH, whose "Golden Treasury of Irish Songs and Lyrics," published by the Dodge Publishing Company, has met with such marked success, has nearly ready for publication a collection of sea songs, entitled "Songs for Sailors." While his new book contains many of the classic songs of the sea of British origin, the greater part of the anthology consists of those songs inspired by events in this country since the days when America had a merchant marine and a navy which dared to give battle to Britain down to to-day, when she has one which is exciting the respect and the admiration of the nations of the world.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Suburban Life will hereafter be brought out under the auspices of S. S. McClure Company, which has bought a controlling interest in the periodical.

THE January issue of The Hibbert Journal, (issued in this country by Sherman, French & Company, Boston,) is enlivened by contributions from two Catholic priests, Fathers Tyrrell and Gerard, dealing from opposite points of view with "Modernism" condemned by the Pope in his recent Encyclical Pascendi. Father George Tyrrell, it will be remembered, incurred not long ago the disfavor of the Vatican, and has since been semi-excommunicated, on account of his severe criticisms in the London Times of the Encyclical and his bold championing of the cause of Modernism.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce that they have taken over The Reader, heretofore published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company, and that they will hereafter control its editorial and business interests. The Reader will be merged with their magazine under the title of Putnam's Monthly and The Reader. The first issue bearing this title will be the March number with the imprint of G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York, and The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis. The Reader has always given special attention to fiction and description, and the new monthly will present more stories and descriptive articles than heretofore, while the literary quality which has been the distinguishing characteristic of Putnam's will suffer no impairment.

BUSINESS NOTES.

FORT SMITH, ARK.—C. K. Ingerberg has suffered a severe fire loss in his bookstore.

LOS ANGELES, CAL.—Stratford & Green have just opened up a book and stationery store at 640 South Main Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Judge Holt appointed James B. Sheldon receiver on the 10th inst. for the A. C. Gunter Publishing Company, doing business as the Home Publishing Company, 3 East Fourteenth Street. The business was started in 1887 as the Home Publishing Company by Archibald Clavering Gunter to publish his novel, "Mr. Barnes of New York," after almost every publisher in the country had refused it. The book had an enormous success and encouraged the author to continue publishing his plays and novels and the works of others. In December, 1904, the A. C. Gunter Publishing Company was incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, Mr. Gunter being president and his wife secretary and treasurer. After Mr. Gunter died, in February, 1907, the business was continued by his widow, J. B. Atwater becoming president. The petition in bankruptcy was filed for Abraham M. Wattenburg, $270; Adolph Kempner, $450, and Albert Hencke, for salaries and extra work. It was stated that the assets consist of accounts for $3500 and some books, magazines, and office furniture. President Atwater said that efforts would be made to reorganize the company, which publishes Gunter's Magazine.

NEW YORK CITY.—By the fire that destroyed the Parker Building, at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Nineteenth Street, during the night of January 10-11, the following publishing firms were rendered temporarily homeless: The Encyclopædia Britannica Company, and offices of the London Times, etc., under the management of H. B. Burrows; James Clarke & Co., Moses King, D. C. Heath & Co., under the management of James H. McInnes; Judge Publishing Company, P. F. Collier's retail branch, the Village Press and Ivan Somerville & Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—James D. Blake has removed his bookstore to 654 Market Street, opposite the site of the Palace Hotel. Mr. Blake will hereafter conduct his business under his own name instead of as Blake's Bookstore.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

"BOOK-PRICES CURRENT" is to be issued in the future in bi-monthly parts, in order to get the information concerning sales into the hands of booksellers and collectors as early as possible after the sales have taken place. The annual volumes will be published as usual, apart from this arrangement.

KARL W. HIERSEMANN, of Leipzig, announces for early publication "Beiträge zur Inkunabelbibliographie," by Konrad Burger, librarian of the library of the Börsenverein of Leipzig and author of a "Druckregister zu Ludwig Hain's 'Repertorium Bibliographicum,'" etc. Burger for years has collected the material for this work, and, judging from his thoroughness in research, has no doubt gleaned the field quite thoroughly.

PROFESSOR ERNEST C. RICHARDSON, librarian of Princeton University, brought out in 1904 a bibliography of books and articles on United States history published during the year 1902, entitled "Writings on American History, 1902." This was followed by a work of similar contents but different arrangement, entitled "Writings on American History, 1903," edition by Professor A. C. McLaughlin and published by the Carnegie Institution. As the Carnegie Institution did not continue the enterprise, a gap for the years 1904 and 1905 remains to be filled at some later time. Dr. J. Franklin Jameson, now of the Carnegie Institution, has arranged, through subscriptions made by a group of guarantors, consisting of historical societies and individuals, for the preparation and issue of a volume on the same plan as that of 1903, entitled "Writings on American History, 1906." Continuance for five years is assured. The first volume will be published this spring by the Macmillan Company. The price will probably be $2.50.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE THIRTEENTH ANNUAL DINNER.

THE thirteenth annual dinner and "Ladies' Night" of The Booksellers' League, given at the Aldine Association on the evening of January 16, while not so well attended as these annual dinners usually have been, was a thoroughly enjoyable affair. The slim attendance was due not to indifference, but to the fact that "grippe," which is almost epidemic in New York, prevented many from venturing out at night. Those who had the good fortune to be present enjoyed a rare treat, as every one of the speakers was in particularly good spirits and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Dr. Josiah Strong, author of "Our Country," etc., in an excellent address on the spread of civilization dwelt with emphasis on the thought that the book is occupying a larger place in civilization than ever. Charles Battell Loomis read an extract from an unpublished manuscript, in which he pointed out in his inimitably humorous manner how futile it is for the average young American citizen to hope that some day he may become President. In response to the hearty applause that greeted his first reading he read a selection from one of his books. The Rev. Thomas R. Slicer touched amiably on many of the foibles and follies of his fellow-men and was heartily applauded again and again. Frederick Russel Burton, American correspondent of the London Daily Express, and a composer and author of note, gave an interesting and instructive talk on American aboriginal music which he illustrated with songs of the Ojibway Indians, into which tribe he has been adopted under an unpronounceable Indian name which signifies the "Man-at-the-Front."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

It is Professor Francis J. Hall, not Bishop Hall, of Vermont, who is the author of the exhaustive treatise on "Dogmatic Theology," published by Longmans, Green & Co.

THE business carried on by Elliot Stock, London, the publisher of "Book Prices Current," etc., has been disposed of to Robert Scott. Mr. Stock will retain a part in the management, and the members of the staff will be unchanged.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish on the 24th inst. a work entitled "Federal Usurpation," by Franklin Pierce, a grandson of President Pierce, in which the author reviews critically and in detail some of the new powers recently assumed by the Government.

THE annual dinner of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Association of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be held at the Union Club, on Tuesday evening, February 4, at seven o'clock. The date of the dinner has been changed so as to insure the presence of "Uncle" George A. Olney.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready an important philosophical work entitled "The Will to Doubt," by Professor Alfred H. Lloyd, of the University of Michigan; also, "The Inward Light," by Fielding Hall, author of "The Soul of the People," referred to in a former issue.

WILLIAM M. STITT, JR., has severed his connection with Blackie & Sons as their American agent, and formed a partnership under the name of The Stitt & Heineberg Co., with offices at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City. The new firm has been appointed to act as selling agent in the United States of The Hayes Lithographing Co., of Buffalo, N. Y.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. announce for early spring publication a new book of essays by John Burroughs, entitled "Leaf and Tendril;" a volume by Professor Irving Babbitt, of the Harvard Faculty, on "Literature and the American College;" and a collection of New England salt-water tales, entitled "The Rose," by George S. Wasson, author of "The Green Shay," etc.

"DONALD AND DOROTHY," one of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge's earliest works, has had an interesting history. It was taken over by its present publishers, the Century Company, from the firm originally publishing it in September, 1893, ten years after issue, and has been reprinted sixteen times in the fourteen years since, with every indication that the present yearly sale of two thousand or more copies will continue indefinitely.

WHEN the American Forestry Association meets at the Willard Hotel, Washington, on January 29, the work of an active year will be reported. To influence public sentiment in favor of its purposes, the association has purchased the magazine Forestry and Irrigation, has enlarged and improved it, and has sent, since July 1, regular press bulletins to 1500 newspapers. The prospect of a timber famine in this country makes the forestry question a vital matter for all publishers.

DODD, MEAD & Co. will publish shortly "My Lady of Cleeve," a novel by Percy J. Hartley, with a colored frontispiece by Harrison Fisher and several other illustrations in two colors; also, "Mryl," by William Tillinghast Eldridge, a modern story of mystery, romance and adventure among the hills of New Hampshire. The title of the new story by George Barr McCutcheon will be "The Husbands of Edith." The title of Will Lillibridge's forthcoming novel will be "The Loadstone," instead of "The Magnet."

THE ERAGNY PRESS having accepted a commission from the Société des Cent Bibliophiles of Paris for the production of an exclusive edition of "Salamon and Balkis," by Gerard de Nerval, the issue of the Herrick songs has been unavoidably postponed, so that there is still an opportunity for intending subscribers to send in their names. The "Salamon" will be the most richly decorated book yet issued by the press. The entire edition is reserved, and even the original blocks and drawings are to be handed over to the club.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY announce for early publication "The Profligate," by Arthur Hornblow, author of the two popular novels, "The Lion and the Mouse" and "The End of the Game;" "As the Hart Panteth," by Hallie Erminie Rives; "The Round Up," novelized from the play by M. M. Miller and John Murray; "The Old Homestead," novelized from Denman Thompson's play; "The Chorus Lady," novelized from James Forbes's play by John W. Harding; "Gertrude Elliott's Crucible," by the author of "Katherine's Sheaves," and two new novels by Fergus Hume.

THE success of Duffield Osborn's story of "The Angels of Messer Ercole," which was issued in such a charming dress last fall, has strengthened the desires of the publishers, Frederick A. Stokes Company, to bring out additional volumes in the series Little Novels of Famous Cities. The idea is to publish in handsome form short novels that are especially characteristic of the cities in which their scenes are laid. There will be no attempted uniformity in the style of the stories. The characters and the plots will in some cases be historical and in others purely imaginary. Some will be tales of past centuries and some of the present, but all will be essentially characteristic of a town or city. There would seem to be a chance here for good writers who have either not learned to construct a long novel or who have manuscripts that do not conform to ordinary fiction requirements.

HILLS & HAFELY, to meet the growing demand for a refined souvenir of St. Patrick's Day, have published thirteen dainty designs, with handsome covers and appropriate mottoes to retail at from five to twenty-five cents. Each design is a reminder of the land of the shamrock and the harp, and of the spirit of friendship and kinship, and is as suitable as a reminder of the day for friends in this country as it is for friends in "ould Erin." As most of the goods heretofore in the market have been as coarse as they were cheap, and were defaced with caricatures of and libels upon the Irish people, this series is certain therefore to find a ready sale among the better class of Irish-Americans. One design, a four-page folder, showing on the cover an Irish flag and an American flag crossed over a steamer on the ocean, all done in color and delicate tint, is the invention of Mr. Fred. Hafely.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY will publish shortly a book of interest to prospective British tourists, entitled "British Highways and Byways from a Motor Car," by Thomas D. Murphy. In this chronicle of a summer's motoring in Great Britain the author has not attempted a guide book, yet the maps and illustrations, together with the comments on roads and inns, are of value in that capacity. It takes the tourist out of the beaten track into the most delightful country in the world, with its towns, villages, historic spots and solitary ruins. Notwithstanding its title the book is of interest not only to motorists, but to the tourist who must depend upon the railways, since the majority of the places described can be reached by rail supplemented by a walk or drive. They announce that the title of Gamaliel Bradford, Jr.'s book, recently announced as "God Save the Commonwealth," has been changed to "Matthew Porter," (the name of the hero,) with the sub-title "No Wit, No Help Like a Woman's."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just ready an interesting novel of the San Francisco fire, entitled "Travers," written by Miss Sara Dean, who herself experienced the scenes she describes. Although primarily a novel of action, its interest is deepened by the human problems presented. It shows the overturning of characters that occurs in a great catastrophe. The hero of her story becomes a thief, and the thief becomes a hero. They have also ready another novel by that pastmaster of the adventure story, Harold Bindloss. Instead of the Northwestern prairies, his scene has shifted to the Canary Islands and along the west coast of Africa, where two indomitable men undergo tremendous hardships and labor with the utmost vigor to save a sunken steamer. The title of the novel is "For Jacinta." Jacinta is the young woman who influences most of the action, and a very interesting person she is. In the last week in January they will publish four new volumes in the series of Masterpieces in Color which have had such a signal success, namely, "Raphael," by Paul G. Konody; "Lord Leighton," by A. Lys Baldry; "Rembrandt," by Josef Israels, and "Fra Angelico," by James Mason. Each volume will have eight full-page reproductions in color. To make the volume of "Fra Angelico" satisfactory, the publishers have used gold in addition to full colors in reproducing the paintings.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS are bringing out this month for the Cambridge University Press the following five notable books: "International Law—Part II., War," by John Westlake, Whewell Professor of International Law in the University of Cambridge, which treats in an authoritative manner the various phases of this subject and includes a chapter on The Hague Conference of 1907; "The Life of William Sterndale Bennett," by his son, J. R. Sterndale Bennett, Fellow of King's College, London, a careful and interesting record of the life of this famous musician; "Scientific Papers," by Sir George Howard Darwin, Plumian Professor in the University of Cambridge, the latest addition to the long list of collected works and mathematical papers published by the press, which treats of oceanic tides and lunar disturbance of gravity; "An Introduction to the Theory of Multiply Periodic Functions," by H. F. Baker, lecturer in mathematics in the University of Cambridge, which consists of two parts—the first dealing with the theory of hyperelliptic functions of two variables, and the second with the reduction of the theory of general multiply-periodic functions to the theory of algebraic functions; also, "A Life of Gilbert Burnet, Bishop of Salisbury," in two parts, the first by T. E. S. Clarke, Minister of Saltoun, and the second by H. C. Foxcroft, editor of "A Supplement to Burnet's History of His Own Time," the first being a record of Bishop Burnet's life in Scotland, and the second of his life in England.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Book Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Annual American Catalog

THE BOOK OF THE HOUR

A Romance of Modern Financial Giants which will Appeal to All Americans

THE MAGNET

By ALFRED O. CROZIER

While this story is one of stirring action and clever dialogue, the author says his book also deals with such topics of burning interest as :

CENTRAL GOVERNMENT BANK PLOT.

ELASTIC CURRENCY—Private Schemes in Congress.

WALL STREET—An Exposure of its Dangerous Methods and Power; Panics—How Created—Effects.

BANKS—Runs by Depositors—The Cause.

RAILROADS—Regulation; Appraisal; New Tax Plan; Trusts; Consolidation; Capitalized Eminent Domain and Earning Power; Waterways.

CORPORATIONS IN POLITICS—New View of Tariff.

LAWYERS FOR SALE—To Plot Corporate Crimes.

POLITICAL CONSPIRACY—To Seize Control of the Government.

"THE MAGNET" is not a reservoir of panaceas. Its author hopes it may induce public thought and discussion, and thus aid in defeating the design of incorporated, ruthless wealth to seize control of the government of this republic in the campaign of 1908 for its selfish purposes, and reverse the wise policies championed with such courage by President Roosevelt.

IT IS A BOOK BOUND TO BE TALKED ABOUT

It was Mr. Crozier, who is a well-known lawyer and manufacturer of Wilmington, Delaware, who started the sensational discussion in the National Civic Federation in New York recently. "The Magnet" will be well advertised, and dealers may rest assured that there will be an unusual call for this new novel.

"One of the most powerful romances which has appeared lately, and which goes to the very root of many of the current national problems."

—Philadelphia North American.
